

There are so many kinds of thrift that one wonders whether the good old word would be applied to the careful housewife who has been busy lately laying in a supply of gloves and little necessities against a busy social season. The matter has been whispered about only so far, but it has become rather well known nevertheless that at a recent function of the real pink tea variety, three of the guests were obliged to go home barehanded—and in this cold weather, too. The reason was no oversight on their part, but it was caused by the fact that each of the three had worn a pair of new and handsome gloves and had deposited them where she thought she would find them once again. Now just who the collector is is not known to a certainty, but she is rather well placed, and it is quite likely that she will not have such a rush of social favors that the gloves will be so handy as she had thought.

And, speaking of wearing apparel, aren't these the lucky girls to get a whole half dozen pairs of silk stockings at a few sittings in a bridge tournament? Well, the useless game has at last justified itself, and even if there are no money stakes, the game may be worth the—no, the stockings, anyway. And they're beautiful, too, the girls all say. No wonder there is to be a second tournament.

The Improvised Lady is the name by which one of the very attractive young lieutenants at the post will be known indefinitely. The fact that one of the town girls failed a military man at the last moment was the real reason for the improvising, and when he determined not to go to the garden alone there was nothing to do but to utilize the material at hand and secure a partner. A handsome blue gown obtained from an obliging young matron, a pair of high-heeled slippers, a picture hat, a heavy veil, made the most apparent articles of the outfit, and the blushing "Improvised Lady" appeared arrayed. The way the favors came her way was a caution, and one of the brother officers is said to have shown serious signs of a case before the veil was removed and the identity disclosed.

For the first time in many seasons the Country club was a deserted place on Thanksgiving day, not one mortal braving the deep untrodden snow to get a glimpse of the place. Heretofore the custom has been to spend the middle part at least of the day there, and many a pleasant hour has been spent around the cheerful hearth fire after a few games in the bleak air of approaching winter. Not so this year. No track is seen on the links unless it be that of a solitary jack rabbit. The place will doubtless remain closed through the severe cold weather.

Women's Clubs.

A decided innovation in the way of a "Children's Day" program was given in two most helpful papers presented to the Ladies' Literary club on Friday last, Mrs. William C. Druehl, speaking on "Municipal Playgrounds," and Miss Fox on "The Free Kindergarten." Mrs. Druehl took the subject of her talk from the standpoint of civic improvement and told of the wonderful good accomplished in the large cities where the playgrounds have been established. She showed by statistics quoted from the good settlement workers the decrease in juvenile criminality and the consequent saving to the cities in which the experiment has been tried. She spoke of the conceded need of a playground apart of suitable places as playgrounds for the public good.

Miss Fox followed the growth of the free kindergarten idea especially in the settlements of the large cities and told how race prejudice and class distinctions have been to a great extent overcome, not alone in the little folk but in the whole families influenced by this benign institution with its Christian teachings and thoughts.

The music was furnished by Mrs. Fred B. Jones, who sang a number of songs of kindergarten songs and later a lullaby and a Christmas song, all adapted for children. Miss Miriam Love played a piano number and Miss Marguerite Duval gave two piano numbers.

Friday evening the Nineteenth Century club of Provo held an open session at the home of the president, Mrs. J. W. Ald. A number of invited guests were present and enjoyed the presentation of "Damon and Pythias" given by Mr. A. E. Buckler. Miss Fay Loose sang in her usual pleasant manner. A violin solo rendered by Mr. Pastorla with piano accompaniment by Mrs. R. R. Irvine, Jr., was also greatly enjoyed. Punch was served in the dining room by Misses Helen Bonham and Ethel Noon.

The members of the Woman's Atheneum of Park City met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Miller and after the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting and some communications from various clubs, the program of the day followed. Mrs. Slicker read a paper on "Floriculture in Public Places" and Mrs. Fargo read a paper on "Public Playgrounds." As Mrs. Fargo was unable to be present Mrs. Bigger read the paper. The last paper of the day was written and read by Miss Bardsley and was an exceptionally good paper on "The Protection of Our Birds." After roll call and singing of "America" the club adjourned to meet at Mrs. Bardsley's home Monday afternoon.

The last meeting of the Monday Night Literary was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Spooner. Mrs. Cummings gave a most interesting talk on some phases of the biennial at Weston and the work of the general federation. It was greatly enjoyed and much appreciated by the club. The next meeting will be held Nov. 23 at the home of Mrs. Bledsoe, 123 North State. Miss Pollock will talk on "Some Impressions Gained From a Trip on the Continent."

The tourist section of the Ladies' Literary club will meet Tuesday morning at the club house. Mrs. M. J. Chessman will give a talk on "Four Emperors of the Eighteenth Century." Mrs. C. J. Pound will speak on "The Kingdom of Poland" and there will be a short talk by Mrs. S. F. Fenton on "Kief and Its Splendors."

The meeting of the Wasatch Literary Circle, which was postponed on account of the storm, will be held next Monday evening at the home of Mrs. E. O. Leatherwood, 1620 South Ninth East street. There will be no meeting on Tuesday.

The current events and current literature section of the Ladies' Literary club will hold a meeting next Friday together with the tourist section, when George H. H. ambassador to Russia, will give a talk on that country and Russian tea will be served.

The art section of the Ladies' Literary club will meet on Thursday at the club house. Mrs. A. E. Gibson will continue the study of the renaissance in Roman architecture.

The regular meeting of the Bay View Reading club was held at the residence of Mrs. A. H. Warren last Saturday night.

The P. E. O. society will meet Saturday next with Miss Whitworth and Miss Andrews at the home of Miss Whitworth, 149 Seventh East.

The Seekers' Literary club will meet Tuesday with Mrs. J. T. Beales at 12 Seventh South street. Mrs. Thomson and Mrs. Yancy will be the leaders in the study of Shakespeare.

The College club will meet on Thursday evening with Mrs. E. O. Leatherwood at 1630 Ninth East street.

The meeting of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers next Wednesday will be one of unusual interest. The program will be devoted to "Pioneer Dramatics and Actors." Reminiscence talks will be made by the pioneer actors, John T. Caine, Bishop Hyrum Clawson, Mrs. Margaret Clawson and others. Also a fine musical program. Those who were fortunate enough to hear Bishop Clawson's talks on the drama in

PAUPER PINE FROM OREGON

Lumbermen of New Zealand Ask Premier to Put a Duty on Lumber From This Country.

Wellington, N. Z., Nov. 28.—The dominion timber trade has been so seriously affected by the increasing importations of Oregon pine that an influential deputation of local sawmill owners and timber merchants today petitioned the premier to impose a duty on Oregon lumber. Many mills in the dominion already have been forced to close, and others will have to follow suit shortly.

The premier promised that he would appear before the legislature to investigate the matter. He said that when the present agreement expired, April 27, 1909, the government would refuse to renew the subsidies to steamers carrying timber against the interests of dominion workers, but he said it was impossible to deal with the question of duty before the next meeting of parliament.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 28.—Within the last year a big lumber export trade has been built up with New Zealand, the shipments from the several ports from the Pacific northwest, amounting to about 2,000,000 feet of fir. In previous years the annual exports of the product did not total more than 1,000,000 feet on an average.

BOY'S FATAL DARING.

Climbed to Top of Tall Chimney and Fell From Lofly Perch.

Paterson, N. J., Nov. 28.—As his playmates looked on with pride and amazement, a 3-year-old boy, named Andrew Schier, 3 years old, scaled a tall chimney of an abandoned brewery and stood for a moment triumphant on the top. Then, to the horror of the boys and girls who watched him from the street below, he plunged downward to his death. Almost every bone in his body was broken.

Children who witnessed the tragedy say that the old bricks in the chimney crumbled under the boy's weight, causing him to fall. Andrew was leading a party of boys were playing "follow the leader."
